The committee, availing themselves of the polite offer of the Baltimore and Ohio Red Road company to transport them free of charge, left Baltimore on Monday, the 27th of January, and arrived at Cumberland in the afternoon of the same day. On Tuesday, accompanied by a number of the citizens of Allegany county, they visited Frostburg, Lonaconing and Mount Savage, returning to Cumberland on Wednesday about 3 o clock. The afternoon of that day was occupied in an inspection of the guard locks, embankments and dam of the Canal, in and about the town of Cumberland. On Thursday our examination of the entire...
